Excel Club

Activity Report (2016- 2017)

The EXCEL Club carried out all its activities for the academic year 2016- '17 under the guidance of its faculty in charge Dr. D. Sankary, Associate Professor of English. This year too, the club was involved in training the undergraduate students in the English language skills such as listening, speaking, reading, and writing along with other related skills such as vocabulary building, pronunciation and basic grammar. Learner friendly audio and video materials were used in this regard to help the students acquire proficiency in these skills. Besides this, students were also trained by the EXCEL Club to appear in various language aptitude tests, conducted by Shakespeare Institute of English, Chennai. 78 students cleared these tests of English language proficiency. The EXCEL Club feels glad to place on record the fact that P. Selva Priya, II B. A. English, secured the State Second position in English Spelling Contest and was awarded a silver medal. The other honours won by our students included three distinctions and a first class score by more than 75% of the participants in these tests. The language skill development of the students was further facilitated by language learning activities such as, listening to audio and video materials, reading comics, role playing, and so on. Thus the EXCEL Club carried out various learner centric activities throughout the year in its endeavour towards empowering the students with English language proficiency
